CONFIRM IAS. LEADER AS CHIEF CONSTABLE

A motion made by Councillor George Byers and seconded by Councillor Allan Perks, chairman of the police committee, recommending that Acting Chief Constable James Leeder be confirmed in his office was passed by Newmarket town council without objection at the council meeting Monday night in the council chambers.

Councillor Frank Bowser drew council's attention to a news item appearing in a Toronto evening paper last week in which it was stated that Chief Leeder had been confirmed in his post a week ago Monday. Members of the council denied having given such information to the Toronto paper. "Is there no way we can prevent such inaccuracies from appearing in the paper?" asked Mr. Bowser.

The resolution confirming Chief Leeder made provision for a weekly salary of $33.50 plus a $9 weekly car allowance.

W. L. BOSWORTH DIES SUDDENLY AT AGE OF 61

Stricken suddenly Monday afternoon, William Leslie Bosworth died at the age of 61. The former councillor had been enjoying excellent health prior to his sudden passing.

Mr. Bosworth was born in Mount Albert, the son of Mark and Annie Bosworth, pioneer family in the district. He was educated in Newmarket and after leaving school, entered business with R. A. Smith. Together they operated a store where Stedman's store now is, selling groceries and chinaware. Mr. Bosworth bought out his partner and a few years later, in 1930, retired from the business.

He married Rena Denne in 1912 and had one son, Lieut. Denne Bosworth, now stationed on the west coast. He was a member of Tuscan Lodge No. 99, A.F. and A.M., and one of the first members of the Newmarket Lions club and a one-time president of the club. He was also associated with the I.O.O.F. and an adherent of the Anglican church.

As a Lions club member, he urged the creation of Lions park, donating part of the land the park now occupies for that purpose. He was among the foremost in the community in urging local improvements and expending time and energy in bringing them about.

An enthusiastic bowler, he was a familiar figure on the Newmarket bowling greens as well as on the greens of district clubs. For the last 15 years, he has served as president of the Newmarket Cemetery Co.

Surviving besides his widow and son are two brothers, Thomas, Newmarket, and Robert, Minnesota.

CURBING MINK FARMS FOUND DUTY OF M.O.H.

Newmarket town council agreed at its Monday night meeting that the regulation of mink farms was not within the scope of council activity. "It is a matter for the board of health," Reeve F. A. Lundy, who was acting mayor in the absence of Mayor Dr. L. W. Dales, who was unable to attend, told the council members at the Monday night meeting.

At a previous meeting, councillors had discussed the possibility of licensing and otherwise regulating the keeping of livestock within the municipal limits. A request for such action had been made by Dr. J. H. Wesley, medical officer of health. Mayor Dales urged immediate action and the town solicitor, N. L. Mathews, K.C., was asked to report on possible legislation.

"I have spoken to the officials of the provincial department of game and fisheries which licenses mink farms in Ontario," Mr. Mathews told council. "Their legislation would not interfere with any action on the part of the town to prohibit mink farming within the limits of the municipality. However, the wording of the legislation, under which the town might act to prevent mink farming reads, 'the prohibition of cows, sheep, swine and other animals,' which is interpreted as meaning other domestic animals. A mink is not a domestic animal and I would not advise the town to act under this legislation."

"The only other suggestion, it seems to me, is to refer the matter back to the board of health rather than attempt to pass a by-law regulating a mink farm. The medical health officer has it in his power to declare any such activity a public nuisance. The health officer can put a stop to any particular farm which, in his opinion, constitutes a public nuisance."

"Isn't it a fact that there is a move afoot to amend the provincial health act to give municipalities the right to admit or reject mink farms?" asked Reeve Lundy. "I believe so," replied Mr. Mathews.

VETERAN RETURNS

Cfn. Vern S. Clark, R.C.E.M.E., has returned home after five years and seven months overseas. He served in Sicily, Italy, Belgium, Holland and Germany. He is the son of Mrs. Emma Clark, Ajax, and brother of Mrs. M. W. Mosley, Ajax, former residents of Newmarket.

PLAN TO KEEP TOWN'S EFFORT IN WAR BOOK

The Newmarket Veterans' Association are contemplating the publishing of a war memorial book. For some time a special committee has been studying the feasibility of such a project. At a special meeting recently the executive endorsed the committee's recommendations and requested it to sound out public opinion on such an undertaking.

The book would record Newmarket's war effort with a brief outline of the town's military history as far back as authentic records can be obtained. It would have a short outline of Newmarket's part in the Northwest Rebellion and the Boer war with records of all who served and any other interesting matter pertaining to those wars. It would contain a complete record of the town's effort in the last war and this with particulars regarding the battalions which were recruited in this district.

It would include a full record of the work of the Newmarket Veterans' Association since its inception and all other local organizations which have made contributions to the war effort. The book would contain stories of the exploits of service personnel which are substantiated by official records or citations. It is intended to make the book of finest quality paper and binding and profusely illustrated.

While plans for financing the book have not been completed, it is thought this could be covered by public donations, grants from public bodies and by sales of copies.

Pres. Alf Smith and his executive are quite enthusiastic over the possibilities of such a venture since they feel it would fill a real need in the community.

ORIOLES TAKE LEAD IN GIRLS' PLAY-OFFS

By ORVILLE GANTON

Orioles took the lead in the girls' softball play-offs Thursday by batting out a 14-4 win over Cardinals. The Ruddle-McDonald clan now look like the team to beat for the bunting. Both pitchers, Hisey and Osborne, were hit hard but Orioles' fielders were always in position and made few mistakes.

Cardinals swamped Capt. Caswell's platoon 14-1 in a play-off fixture at the camp Tuesday. The red birds whirled Dot McCargher's south-paw slants to all points of the compass including beyond the blue. Marg Hisey was in rare form, restricting the soldier girls to a few weak pokes to the infield. Lois Manning and May Primrose had round trippers. The army girls seemed listless without Schroeder who is in the west on furlough. Cardinals and Orioles hook up again this evening in what should be a battle royal.

WRITE OFF TAXES

The Newmarket town council wrote off $1,925.08 in back taxes at its Monday night meeting after it was explained by the town solicitor, N. L. Mathews, K.C., that most of the sum was on property which had been sold in tax sales in 1939 and 1940 and never written off.

Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Strong, parents of Mr. R. E. K. Rourke, will occupy Rev. F. N. Brunton's home for the winter.

Park Ave. Residents Ask For Extension Of Water Service

Members of the Newmarket town council will meet with the present and future residents of Park Ave. who will be building beyond the town line to discuss provision of water facilities by the town. Provision of water beyond the town was requested by a petition signed by 100 per cent of the residents which was presented before the council on Monday night. J. B. Waterhouse and Elman W. Campbell represented the seven petitioners. The petition asked for extension of pipes 560 feet beyond the farthest main west with a guarantee to assume a portion of the cost by direct payment.

"There are two houses being built out there now and another going up as soon as labor is available," Mr. Waterhouse stated. "We would like to know what it would cost and how much you would expect us to pay."

"This is a new business," stated Deputy-Reeve Arthur D. Evans. "We should have legal advice before entering into any agreement. There is not only water but light to consider as well as fire and police protection and schools."

"What would be the position of the north end, and east on Gormham St.? Can we supply those sections with water as well as west on Park Ave?" asked Councillor Frank Bowser. "Will the present system serve all?"

Mr. Evans: "We might have to drill another well. One of the first things we must consider is the enlarging of the present system so that we can build up a reserve."

Councillor George Byers: "If we accept Mr. Waterhouse's offer now, how are we going to refuse such requests in the future. We should draw the line now. Perhaps a meeting might be arranged between council and the property owners on Park Ave."

Mr. Lundy: "Have you considered incorporation into the town?"

Mr. Waterhouse: "What would be the advantages? What is the assessment?"

Mr. Evans: "The assessment is two-thirds of the property value and the mill rate is 34. That includes roads and sidewalks, police and fire protection."

The discussion ended with Mr. Waterhouse agreeing to assemble the property owners at the west end of Park Ave. for a arranged between the council and the property owners on Park Ave."

Mr. Bowser brought to council attention an engineer's report on the estimated cost of extending sewers on Prospect St. south of Pearson Ave. For 340 feet, the cost would be $300 and for 1,400 feet, $4,250 if done by machine, the report stated. The engineer had been asked to sound out the present Prospect Ave. sewer and advise council whether or not it could stand the additional load. This information was lacking and Mr. Bowser urged a stay in any action on a new sewer until the information was available. "What is the use of constructing a new sewer if the main sewer can't handle the load," he said.

Travelling Via Thumb, Joyce Hill On West Coast

Newmarket has a hitch-hiking ambassador at large in Joyce Hill, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Hill, 17 Huron St. West. Leaving Toronto on Aug. 1 with Margaret Smith, Brampton, Joyce was in Spokane, Wash., on Aug. 13.

"Everybody we've met has been so kind and courteous that we are simply amazed," Joyce told the Spokane Daily Chronicle. "We haven't walked two miles in the 2,000 we have travelled so far."

"This transcontinental hitch-hike is the big adventure of our lives," said Margaret Smith in Spokane. "We plan to go from Toronto to the west coast and back before university classes begin in September."

Mrs. Hill has received the clipping from Spokane and a succession of post cards, the first dated London, Ont., Aug. 1, and the most recent dated Seattle, Wash., Aug. 15.

At Big Springs, Mich., Joyce reported that they slept in a haystack. "The farmer's wife gave us blankets and their big shepherd dog slept at our feet. How they fed us! It was a regular farm breakfast, more than enough for a hay hand."

From Minot, N.D., she wrote: "We have met grand people. Several people took us miles out of the way to show us points of interest. Before we can thank them for the ride they are thanking us for our refreshing conversation and company."

From Kalispell, Mont.: "We made a detour south to Great Falls to see a rodeo. Exciting! In Glacier Park we drove through tunnels of rock. Saw deer, antelope and pelicans."

From Seattle, Wash., Joyce reported that they helped with the V-J celebrations there. For the first two weeks the combined travel expense of the girls was just over $16. One day when hospitality was especially generous, they had one item of expense, 20 cents for postcards.

The early part of the summer Joyce worked at Limerlost Lodge, Mukoko. Prior to that she was living in Toronto and working at Victory Aircraft plant, Malton. She is a graduate of Newmarket high school.

Like many Canadians in these days since U.S. travel restrictions have been lifted, Joyce says she just got the urge to travel.

Banff, Alta., in the Canadian Rockies, is on their returning itinerary.

All entrance pupils and any others who will be enrolling in Newmarket high school for the first time are requested to register at the school on Monday and Tuesday, Aug. 27 and 28, between 10 a.m. and 4:30 p.m. The enrolment in grade IX is expected to be very heavy and it is necessary that pupils enroll before the opening of school so that suitable accommodation can be arranged.

Parents of pupils who passed the entrance examinations this year are advised that their children must attend school until the age of 16. Any pupil wishing to leave school to work must obtain a work permit from the attendance officer if the pupil is under the age of 16.

Juveniles Down Milliken To Become League Champs

By ORVILLE GANTON

Newmarket juveniles defeated Milliken 6-1 in Milliken Monday evening to win the Lions league championship. Big Ken Broughton pitched a shut-out until the final frame when Milliken squeezed in a run. Newmarket scored two runs in each of the first three and were never in danger. Three fast double plays helped Broughton's cause considerably.

A team representing the league is entered in O.B.A. midget play-downs. "Hawk" Haskett, who has piloted the local squad so efficiently all season, will handle the team.

McHale, Broughton, Brown and Rutledge will be eligible. They meet Collingwood in the big play-down game Thursday with the return game here Saturday. The town should turn out en masse and support these hustling kids. With long trips now necessary, expenses will be heavy. We must all dig deep and keep them rolling.

LIONS SPORT PROGRAM WINS COUNCIL PRAISE

Deputy-Reeve Arthur D. Evans took the floor at Newmarket council meeting to pay what he called a well-deserved tribute to the Newmarket Lions club for the summer recreation program the club sponsored at the park for children. "It was put up to us often by the mayor to do things for the children but it remained for the Lions club to go ahead," he said. "It was one of the happiest things to ever happen to the town." "As proof of its value, the average attendance was 161," said Councillor Frank Bowser.

A WORTHY PROJECT

The Newmarket Veterans' Association is planning a permanent memorial to the men and women of Newmarket who served in this and the last war in the form of a published record of the local effort. Tentatively, the book has been considered in the form of a military history of Newmarket dating as far back as authentic records go.

It is planned that the book will record not only the names and deeds of the fighting men and women but also the work done by the Newmarket Red Cross, the Lions club, the Women's Institute, and all other organizations which have devoted time, money and labor towards the war effort.

Before embarking on this work, the Newmarket veterans are anxious to sound out public opinion since it is planned to meet part of the cost at least through the sale of copies. The veterans also look forward to grants from interested organizations. However, the memorial book will have little or no value unless the public feels the need for such a record. It is to determine the extent of that need that the veterans are conducting their poll.

It is to be hoped that those polled by the veterans will join in urging that the project be carried on. Newmarket need take second place to no municipality its size in extent of effort and sacrifices it has made to help bring this war to a successful conclusion. A tangible record of the effort would be a lasting source of inspiration to this and all succeeding generations as well as stimulating civic pride in the traditions which have developed through the years of the town's growth.

EXTENDING TOWN LIMITS

An issue of considerable importance to Newmarket was given a preliminary airing at the Monday night meeting of the council when J. B. Waterhouse appeared on behalf of six other petitioners from outside the corporation limits to ask the town to provide them with water. The petitioners offered to pay a portion of the cost of installing mains and apparently expected to pay a higher rate for their water than do the residents within the limits.

What the council must decide is to what extent the town can be expected to provide services for residents just beyond the corporation limits. Essential to such consideration is the existing capacity of town services. For example, Deputy-Reeve Arthur D. Evans pointed out that there is considerable need for increasing the town water supply and Councillor Frank Bowser drew attention to the overloaded condition of Prospect Ave. main sewer. If the council believes it feasible to sell municipal services beyond the corporation limits, the present services must be enlarged and extended at considerable cost.

A second point relevant to such consideration is that the sale of municipal services to out of town customers involves considerable financial activity. Such a move places the municipal council in the position of a business firm, buying and selling. It is questionable whether a town council is in a position to act in this way with necessary efficiency.

The alternative to the extension of municipal services beyond the municipal limits is to incorporate outside residential areas within the town limits. Several advantages recommend such a move. It provides a fairer distribution of taxes. It safeguards real estate values within the town. It provides a larger and steadier income for the town.

At the present time, it is possible for an outside resident to send one child to public school in Newmarket at less cost to him than the school tax is to a property owner in town. If Main St. were widened, the cost would be borne by taxpayers inside the town but those living outside the town would benefit by the improved accessibility to the shopping district. Residents just outside the town enjoy such municipal facilities as the arena but they do not share in its cost. If those areas outside the town were incorporated within the town limits, those costs would be spread over a wider area with a consequent lessening of the burden on the individual tax payer.

If residential areas outside the town are able to purchase town services without payment of town taxes, more building will be done outside the town than within the town limits. The result will be a fall in real estate values within the town. If, however, residential sections are placed on an equal footing, real estate values are subject only to normal fluctuations.

Finally, taxes from residential sections now outside the town, would represent a steady income for the municipal treasury. While the incorporation of such areas would mean additional expenditure in roads, etc., once the first expenses were paid, that property would represent additional spending power for the town enabling the municipality to provide additional improvements.

There is every advantage to Newmarket in incorporating these outside residential areas. The residents would not unduly suffer since Newmarket has not a high tax rate. They would benefit through the provision of all municipal services at a far better standard than provided in the townships. If the construction of residences continues as every sign suggests it will, Newmarket will sooner or later meet this issue in a more complex form. It will be better if Newmarket decides now to extend its limits.

GOING FISHING

Time was when all a man needed to go fishing was the desire, a handful of stogies or his pipe as the case was, a hank of line and a few worms. But fishing, like most of the other good things of life, has been high pressured so much that nowadays, the Compleat Fisherman has more equipment than an explorer in Tibet and his fishing has only a fraction of the pleasure it once had.

The modern fisherman has hooks of every size and shape. He has every manner of spoons and minnows, some of them costing a small fortune. He carries a dozen weights of line, a variety of sinkers, and an encyclopaedic reference on the feeding habits of fish plus a copy of the local game and fish laws (abridged edition). With all his gadgetry, he is able to catch fish, but in the process, the sport has assumed something of the aspect of the statistics surrounding the family allowances.

By the time he has charted his fishing grounds, carefully noted the relationship between the weather and the habits of the fish he is angling for, strung his rod, chosen his bait, calculated the best depth to fish in, and made a hundred and one other adjustments, he has used more energy than Einstein required for his atomic equation. To be sure, he'll bring home a catch that will be the envy of his club but he will have had no pleasure in it. He was too busy catching fish.

One doesn't go fishing to catch fish. To come right down to it, the fish are really incidental to the real business of enjoyment, relaxation, getting out in the sun and breathing some fresh air for a change. If the fish wants to hook himself, that is his business. He will be hauled in. If he wants to be coy and be chased with all the devices that are in the fishing catalogues, then he can forget it. When the desire to catch a fish becomes more important than just going fishing, enjoyment ceases and the work begins.

THE COMMON ROUND

By ISABEL INGLIS COLVILLE

V-J DAY

When something we have hoped for, prayed for, worked for, is long delayed and then comes at last, it sometimes comes in the nature of an anti-climax.

Our emotions have been under a strain for so long that, like over-tuned violin strings, they snap and are dead—we can only sit dazed and seek after realization and the thankfulness we know is deep within us. I can never understand the exuberance which must find release in wild, tumultuous demonstrations—that's my loss, probably, but it doesn't just fit in my personal economy. But there are many to whom such a release is an absolute necessity, and where it doesn't degenerate into vandalism, who would deprive them of it?

There was to me something very inspiring, something which promised well for the future of the British Commonwealth, in the way in which the news of the Japanese surrender was received. From both Britain and Canada the services of praise were beautiful and heartfelt. The old hymns have still there ancient power to move us, and the words of the Psalms are still the towers of strength they always were. Everywhere there was a challenge to us, culminating in Mr. King's speech, to face the future with a new outlook on life—a new sense of our responsibility in the building of the "brave new world." Remembering that it is a world built on blood and sacrifice and tears, can we do less than our best?

There are so many that this war has left maimed in body, heart and soul. If we would help to bind these wounds, then we must put something new into the business of living. The shouting and the tumult have died now; the captains and the kings are departing to take up new lives, but the ancient sacrifice of humble and contrite hearts stays where it always should be—within us—to prod us on in our endeavors, to keep us from pride, and to plant deep within our hearts, love of God and man.

We drove through a couple of towns on V-J night. Everywhere there was color and rejoicing. Our rejoicing was over the cessation of something which had touched comparatively few of us in a really personal way. Those who had given loved ones and those who had returned from doing their glorious share in battle—these had the right to know the full joy of the end of the war. The rest of us have been so untouched. Of course, if we have decent feelings, our hearts have been wrung as we read of the suffering of those in enemy hands, but WE had no fear of sharing their fate; we have done without not one thing which has been a hardship to do without.

We have worshipped in peace; we have eaten our fill, we have enjoyed the beauty of the seasons and the song of the birds. We have slept in peace, but now comes the challenge to our right to rejoice. I wonder if we are ready for it. Are we ready to give up more of our foodstuffs without grumbling, that others may eke out a bare existence? Are we ready to share in every effort to bring back hope and a measure of decent living and happiness to those who have, for so long, been deprived of even a semblance of these necessities?

Are we watching and weighing every effort to give our returning soldiers the welcome and the chance which is their right? Are we looking for ways and means to make OUR individual bit of Canada a bit of a better world to live in?

It seems to me that if we accomplish one half of what is awaiting the world in re-adjustment and relief, we will then be able to have an A-V Day—an After-Victory celebration in which we can all join if we have done our bit.

TO THE EDITOR

The editor, The Era and Express. Allow me through your paper to protest the action of our town council in trying to cancel the holiday on V-J Day. When all of Canada planned to set aside that day for celebrating the glorious victory of our troops, why should Newmarket be put out of step and made to look ridiculous by such arbitrary procedure. Would it not have been more democratic to have sought the viewpoint of the working people and all others involved through their various organizations before taking such drastic action?

The best way to build the world-wide democracy that we have been fighting and working for is to begin right here at home.

Lorne Paynter.

DANGEROUS DRIVING CHARGE IS DISMISSED

A charge of dangerous driving, laid against Richard Halford by Constable William Hill of Sutton following an accident which resulted in the death of Alexis Thibeault, was dismissed by Magistrate H. R. Polson in magistrate's court here on Friday.

A light truck, driven by accused, turned over while negotiating the turn on the county road north of Baldwin on July 20. The accused, Mr. Thibeault, and Paul Thibeault, son of the dead man, were riding in the truck at the time of the accident. Mr. Thibeault died immediately but the other two were unhurt except for bruises and contusions.

Constable Hill told the court that with Constable Carl Morton he was called to the scene of the accident at 7.30 p.m., July 20. "I found the truck upside down on the shoulder of the road," he said. "The accused told me that he had been braking his truck as he approached the curve when something seemed to jerk the wheel out of his hand."

Paul Thibeault said the brakes appeared to lock as they approached the corner. Steve Johnson, a nearby farmer, was first on the scene of the accident. He testified that in his opinion, ten miles per hour was a reasonable speed to round the corner.

The accused stated that he had been driving transport trucks since he was 18 years old. He said he had been driving around the corner where the accident occurred at least six times a day for the past six months. "As we approached the corner, I put the brakes on to slow the truck," he said. "The brakes locked and threw the truck to one side. That was all I remembered until after the accident."

Evidence was introduced showing a bolt had loosened on the brake band.

C.T.S. Evans, defence counsel, said in his argument that there had been no evidence of recklessness or indifference to public safety on the part of the accused. He argued the accident was caused by mechanical failure. Crown Attorney Arleigh Armstrong offering no objection, the charge was dismissed.

A total in fines amounting to $22 was levied against Joseph Irwin who was charged on three counts: failure to produce registration certificate, possession of liquor without liquor board sanction, and possession of liquor in an illegal place. Accused pleaded guilty to all three charges.

Constable Burbidge testified that he spoke to accused in a Lake Simcoe hotel and accused was unable to show his registration certificate. Accompanied by Constable Hill, he said he searched accused's hotel room and found five bottles of rye liquor. The room was not registered in accused's name, he stated.

In Memoriam

Goodwin—In loving memory of my dear father, Edward Goodwin, who passed away Aug. 23, 1942, and my dear mother, Rosa Ann Goodwin, who passed away Jan. 19, 1943. Not just today, but every day in silence we remember. Always remembered by daughter, Gertrude, and her family.

Morris—In loving memory of my dear husband, William Morris, who passed away Aug. 19, 1944. Nothing can ever take away the love a heart holds dear. Fond memories linger every day. Remembrance keeps him near. Lovingly remembered by his wife and family.

Rutledge—In loving memory of a dear daughter and sister, Daisy Rutledge, who passed away Aug. 25, 1943. In our hearts your memory lingers. Always tender, fond and true. There's not a day, dear Daisy, That we do not think of you. Ever remembered by mother, dad and family.

Shubert—In loving memory of a dear husband and father, Per Shubert, who passed away Aug. 21, 1944. I do not need a special day To bring you to my mind For the days I do not think of you. Are very hard to find. Please God just let him know That I, down here, do not forget I love and miss him so. Too dearly loved to ever be forgotten by his wife, Alno, and daughter, Karen.

Willton—In loving memory of a dear mother, Mary Ann Willton, who passed away Aug. 23, 1935. Sleep on, dear mother, it has been ten long years Since you left our hearts filled with sadness and tears. Yours was a heart that was blithesome and gay. Scattering sunshine all along the way. You know how we loved you, and yes, love you yet, Though God took you from us we cannot forget. Ever remembered by son, wife and family.

Library Closed Aug. 25 For Move To Health Hall

Aurora public library will be closed Aug. 25 to Sept. 1 to enable the books and equipment to be transported and installed in Health Hall where the library will be located. The board last week accepted the invitation of the public school board to occupy the building and it is thought the new quarters will be more attractive and more popular than the old.

At this time it is interesting to recall a bit of Aurora public library history. In 1855 the library was formed as part of the Aurora Mechanics' Institute which received a charter in 1856 after incorporating upon the advice of Joseph Hartman, M.P. The organization had originally been called The Diffusion Of Useful Knowledge. In 1858, 50 pounds was spent to start the library. Until 1905 the library was run in conjunction with the operation of Mechanics' Hall by the Mechanics' Institute directors.

By 1905 the situation of the library was so bad that a subscription was taken. The subscribers who contributed $5 each included Jas. Whimster, J. M. Walton, T. H. Lennox, N. C. Towns and Co., D. A. Ratcliffe, S. H. Lundy, C. C. Richardson, Wm. Ough, Dr. Rutherford, W. J. Bassett, Caster and Davey, W. J. Knowles, G. S. Baldwin and Thos. Sisman. In all $75 was collected and to this the town added $100 upon the condition that it be made a public library. The late Frederick McNally, appointed librarian in 1895, was retained as librarian and the late C. W. Mulloy was the first chairman of the board. In 1910, the late Miss Ida Clark was appointed librarian, a post she held for 20 years when she was succeeded by Mrs. Dorothy Bunn who held the post until Miss Marjorie Andrews, the present librarian, was appointed in 1934.

Among those who have been chairmen of the board are C. W. Mulloy, 1905-07; J. M. Walton, 1907; Rev. Walter Amos, 1908-1911; John G. McDonald, 1911-

1915; Thos. Griffiths, 1916; Thos. Scrivener, 1917; Dr. Ford Butler, 1918; Rev. P. R. Soanes, 1919-21; J. G. McDonald, 1921-34; Mrs. C. J. Devins, 1934-43; Wilfred Adams.

One of the greatest friends the library ever had was the late Herbert Fleury who contributed time, money and interest in making the library a success. Other names of those who contributed yeoman service in the past include Charles Webster, Charles Bailey, M. H. Thompson, Rev. T. H. Mussen, Mrs. H. H. Allen, Mrs. Clara Blewett and Mrs. J. D. Wilcox.

The library moved to its present site in 1922 from Wellington St. west where the late A. J. Wise had his plumbing shop. Previous to that the library was located upon the site of the present new municipal building on Yonge St.

The library is growing in popularity and is a credit to the municipality. With its new site it should enter a new era of popularity and expansion.

Mr. Winch was trying to bring them under control when thrown from the wagon to the pavement. He was discovered in a serious condition by Mrs. Lloyd Fowler, who summoned Dr. Crawford Rose of Aurora. Dr. Rose rushed the injured man to York County hospital but it was found he could not be treated there and he was taken to a Toronto hospital, where he died.

Mr. Winch was born at Paisley, and had been a farmer most of his life. He moved to the Aurora district last spring from Agincourt where he had resided for many years. He was a member of the United church and the Orange Order. Funeral service was held on Monday from his late residence with Rev. Roy Hicks in charge. He is survived by his widow, the former Edith Fortune, two daughters, Anna and Doris, and two sons, Douglas and William. Interment was in Aurora cemetery.

RETURNS FROM U.S.A.

Bert Franklin, who has been employed in Arizona and California the past six months, is back in the district.

DOWN THE CENTRE

Hold the phone and "Bugg me, Miss Blue" because you and I have a date Friday night, Aug. 24, at Stuart Scott grounds, Newmarket, when Charlie VanZant and his stars of yesteryear trot out on the ball diamond against George Haskett's 1945 streamlined juvenile club. It should be quite a joust and the kids are determined to put an end to all this palaver they have been hearing about what happened on the greensward back in 19—?, and they maintain that reputations will mean nothing against present day ability.

Silent Bob Peters and Hack Cain have been lured out of retirement by the loquacious Van Zant upon the promise that Doc Dales and Joe Spillette will be on hand with plenty of liniment, stretcher bearers and a plentiful supply of cokes. Those creaking limbs will need a bit of encouragement and, of course, some of Dr. Drew's Soothing Syrup will not come amiss.

Speedy Giles and Harvey Gibbey will be in action but from there in, the oldtimers are in the mystery column but they have at least a dozen ready to go, which means probably they'll go as far back as Ben Wilson, Tommy Scott, Arnold Molyneux and Bill Epworth. If the event goes over well Chuck plans to make this an annual event for the next 30 years or so and all that is needed to make the event a big success is to see that "old gang" which used to follow the fortunes of Newmarket baseball, in attendance. Since the big boys have gone into retirement they have been sitting at home twiddling their thumbs but a visit to Pantry Park should sell them on the idea of giving Haskett's kids some needed support.

It's baseball's big night for 1945 and we know you won't want to miss it. If the kids win, it's quite probable that VanZant and company will have to go into retreat to live it all down although Stan Smith and the lads have been memories which reach as far as Shangri-La. Let's all amble over and see if the oldtimers will be able to stagger off after darkness falls. Speaking of age, Earl Cook, former Stouffville-Toronto Leafs pitcher, has decided to call it quits and retire for the year from the Congress Baseball league. A fairly wise decision all the way around. Earl failed to accompany the Maher's team to London and the Toronto shoemen lost both their starts. Thus ends the saga of Earl's comeback in amateur baseball.

With two kid teams going into the O.A.B.A. playdowns it will not be long until the team managers make known their selections. Oddly enough the juvenile entry will be called Stouffville which didn't even make the playoffs, while Richmond Hill will sponsor the bantam team whose championship, judging by recent development, may well go elsewhere. Chances are the playing sites may be changed while the names will be only titular so far as the actual teams are concerned. We understand the winning coaches in both sections will be in charge of the teams.

Milliken selections of the best juvenile team is as follows: catcher, Ken Schell of Stouffville with Winger of Newmarket in reserve; pitchers, Orval Rouse, Milliken, and Ronnie Simmons, Aurora; 1st base, Miller, Stouffville, 2nd base, Don Little, Richmond Hill; 3rd base, Lyall Petch, Milliken; short stop, Pee-Wee Rutledge, Newmarket; utility, Andy Grant, Milliken; outfield, Loring Doolittle, Aurora, Don Brown, Newmarket, and Nick Procenko, Milliken. That seems like a fairly strong team and was picked by Rattle and McWhirter.

We asked the president, Leonard Simmons, to make his choice in the juvenile just to see how they compared and to give us one in the bantam series. This of course is strictly unofficial and purely one made on Leonard's own opinion. Here is the way the league as well as anybody, picks them. Juvenile all-stars: first team: Ken Schell, Stouffville, catcher; Ken Broughton, Newmarket, pitcher; Bill McGhee, Aurora, 1st base; Ron Simmons, Aurora, 2nd base; Red Pal-mateer, Newmarket, 3rd base; Pee-Wee Rutledge, Newmarket, short stop; Loring Doolittle, Aurora, Don Brown, Newmarket, Billy Neal, Richmond Hill, outfield.

Second team: Doug Moore, Richmond Hill, catcher; Johnny Atkinson, Richmond Hill, pitcher; Lorne Schell, Stouffville, 1st base; Leo Anthony, Aurora, 2nd base; Lyall Petch, Milliken, 3rd base; Pep Paisley, Stouffville, short stop; Lawranson, Markham, Gowland, Markham, Ralph Rank, Aurora, outfield.

We were glad to see Mr. Simmons didn't pass over his own two boys for we have seen all the bantam teams but one and they certainly were entitled to first place team recognition. Outside of outfielders in both cases, Mr. Simmons was fast on the draw and could speak with assurance and he agrees with us that the fielders are the one weak spot in district kid baseball except for two or three boys.

The other night at the Aurora ball park a hard hit ball came foul off a bat and appeared a certainty to conk one of the spectators until a grey-haired man wearing glasses neatly speared the ball. It was Arthur Ashton of Aurora and only a handful of people in the park knew that 40 years ago in the same park, Mr. Ashton was a member of the Aurora team and for a decade was one of the best ball players in the district.

Hard luck befell young Frenchy Thibert, the Richmond Hill bantam second sacker, in the final game of the bantam series at Milliken. Trying to stretch a hit, he went into second base too hard, came in contact with one of the Milliken boys and broke an ankle. That was the first serious injury of the season and we presume that he will be looked after by the Hill Lions club. When it is considered that over 200 district boys have played baseball this season with only one accident, a near record is set and doubting parents should have their minds at ease on the chances of injury. Last year, if memory serves right, there wasn't even one accident.

One thing we did notice which could be corrected next year was the almost entire absence of a first aid kit. It doesn't cost much to carry tape, a few band-aids, gauze, ointment, liniment and iodine. It can save serious injury with treatment as well as easing unnecessary pain. Most of the men in charge or some in the crowd know the rudiments of ordinary first aid when a doctor isn't always available. Our experience so far as doctors are concerned has been that they are only too willing to give the lads a hand where injuries are concerned but they shouldn't be imposed upon for in most cases they seldom make a charge.

The advent of peace means that our sporting scene will be augmented with the return of many of our former athletes from the armed forces. The services have given them an adequate sports program and they will expect a similar one to be provided for them on the home front to take care of surplus energy and that feeling of restlessness bound to come after the first flush of being with loved ones again and in familiar scenes wears off. It will also mean that more sporting equipment will be available, increasing month by month as the switch to civilian production comes.

Already the lifting of gasoline rationing and the promise of more tires means that the problem of travelling which has done as much as anything else to curtail sport the past few years is gone. Next winter will not be such a difficult one so far as inter-town competition is concerned and this is especially good news to the promoters of juvenile and minor sports who have a fairly wide program in mind. The return of peace doesn't mean so much to professional sport since hockey and baseball carried on much the same as usual, even though an ersatz variety, because the fans demanded it and had the money to pay for their fund. The calibre of sports among the pros will of course come back more closely to the exalted pedestal it was once supposed to have occupied. Fundamentally, however, pro sports suffered very little by the war. Very few professional athletes were killed or wounded.

Not so, however, with amateur sport. Missing from softball, baseball, hockey, lacrosse and other sports in the amateur ranks are so many of the best of our athletes, fellows who, perhaps, may have had a professional career in front of them and whose places will be hard to fill. The small towns and country districts where good talent was not as plentiful as in the cities, more than gave their share of athletes in the fight to preserve our way of living.

We think with regret of those who will be with us no more, those who gave their all without fear or forebearance. In their own communities their names will be recorded on some memorial or tablet but to those to whom they were dear, to those who played with them or cheered them on the ball diamond or in the hockey arena, their names need no concrete memorial. They shall not be forgotten.

We have not the means at hand to prepare a sports' honor roll for all those gallant district athletes who passed on and if we miss any names it is purely by accident.

The bells still toll for lads like Bruce Stiles (Aurora), Jack Luck (Newmarket), George Davis (Stouffville), Frank Devine (Beaverton), Wes Heaney (Aurora), Norm Hooper (Barrie), Don Graham (Richmond Hill), Bob Turp (Aurora), Johnny O'Connor (Newmarket), Harry Kay (Schomberg), Jimmy Cochran (Markham), Harry Treloar (Sutton), Billy Heath (Aurora), Bill Pagan (Schomberg), Gert Larsen (Newmarket), Eric Pollock (King), Gord Dawson (Cookstown), Bill Mugford (Aurora), Gene Burrows (Newmarket), Ernie White (Richmond Hill), Charlie Dawson (Aurora), Leo Murphy (Markham), Tony Smith (Oak Ridges), Bruce Prest (Newmarket), Bill Simmons (Aurora), Doug McKenzie (Aurora), Fred Apps (Beaverton), Clair Dutcher (Elmville), George Rothwell (Lansing), Hugh Stewart (Newmarket), Jack Davidson (Aurora), Jack Cowleson (Markham), Jack Wootland (Aurora). Those are names we wrote about in this column only a few short years, even months ago and whose names will be familiar in some connection to most of our readers.

Another policyholder reports...

"I AM A BANKER, the father of a son, and a policyholder in The Mutual Life of Canada. Many years ago my father, who was also a banker, and who saw directly how life insurance can benefit men and women in many ways, impressed on me the value of life insurance. He obtained a policy for me when I was a child, and when I started to work in a bank in my early twenties I purchased another $1,000 policy with The Mutual Life."

"When I MARRIED I insured again, for a larger amount, to give my wife the protection she needed. I chose 20 Pay Life insurance, preferring that plan because I have to make only twenty payments of the same amount, during my best earning years, and then my insurance will be paid-up. When I am ready to retire I can, if I wish, use the cash value of my insurance to purchase a monthly income."

"Now, from my own experience as a banker, I am realizing the wisdom of my father's advice and am teaching my son the value of life insurance."

When, by proper feeding, you ship your hogs to market from six to eight weeks earlier, you save on three counts. First, you save time—and in these days of labor shortage, every means of decreasing the amount of labor required must be considered. Secondly, you save food. Thirdly, you save money—and every dollar saved in feed costs is one more dollar in your pocket.

Correct hog feeding means balanced feeding, not haphazard feeding. Correct feeding on SHUR-GAIN Hog Grower means that your hogs receive sufficient animal proteins for maximum growth, lots of minerals for sturdy bone development and sufficient vitamins to assure health and vitality. With balanced SHUR-GAIN feeding, you'll save more hogs per litter, raise more hogs to bonus grades and cut the time of market by weeks.

BOB CASEY, who has seen more of this global war on land and water than any other correspondent back at the beginning and end of it and slowly builds up the avalanche in between. THIS IS WHERE I CAME
 IN is a completed cycle of world shattering events. In it Casey re-lives such moments as when "Churchill was defying the rampant Hitler and carrying a little conviction as he sounded the doom of the comic but deadly Mussolini. With no apparent cause for optimism he was rallying the people for a thrust at the soft underbelly of the Axis." Casey does not wave flags, he stands in awe before events too great for even a war correspondent to interpret with glib answers. THIS IS WHERE I CAME IN is a book both humbling and stupendous. McClelland and Stewart.
